Dear Chapter 13 Debtor,

You are required to complete an approved personal financial management class to be eligible to obtain a discharge in your Chapter 13 bankruptcy case. Your Chapter 13 Trustee, Marilyn O. Marshall, is an approved provider for this class.

It is suggested that you take the class on the day of your scheduled §341 meeting instead of waiting until the end of your case; you do not want to risk delaying your discharge. You may take the course as many times as you like, just present acceptable identification.

Your Chapter 13 Trustee offers this class to you free of charge because she feels very strongly that it is important for everyone to make an effort to take control of and manage their personal finances. It will help you get a fresh start.

You are not required to take the class offered by the Trustee, but we recommend it for the following reasons: IT'S FREE, and we have great facilitators, who are ready to answer all of your questions. We're interested in having you receive your discharge and then never needing to come back to see us again!

Our class teaches the basics of personal planning, money management, budgeting, being an informed consumer, restoring your credit, understanding how credit reports work and, finally, about the wise use of credit. A lot of material is covered in two hours, but Dave Ramsey is very entertaining, so the time goes by quickly.

At the end of the class, there are no tests or quizzes you have to take. You are simply required to complete a course evaluation form.

Upon your completion of the course, an Official Form 23 will be filed with the Court on your behalf by the Trustee (provided you have properly signed the form), and a Certificate of Debtor Education will be provided to you.

For some students, this class will be a review and will reinforce what you already know; for others it will be all new. Either way, you'll leave the class with valuable information.
